

Harness the power of your data.

Launch or boost the following journeys with us:

Automate your client reporting

Octigen is the ideal partner to help you focus on the bottom line rather than reports. From software development & integration to reporting as a service, we offer you à la carte solutions for your needs.

Elevate your quantitative edge

Let us supercharge your quant analytics using some of the brightest experts in the field, in topics like data quality, portfolio construction and time series forecasting.

Who we are

Dr. Michel Muller, co-founder

15+ years of professional experience as a software architect, 6+ years experience creating cutting edge data solutions for finance, PhD in high performance computing, MSc from ETH Zurich.

Mr. Kevin Graziani, co-founder

Front-office quant for some of the Europe's largest financial players, two times MSc cum laude in Quantitative and Corporate Finance, experienced software engineer & marketing expert.

So far, our founders have...

- ...reinvented the data & client reporting landscape of one of the largest independent asset managers in Switzerland. From manual Word & Excel to pixel-perfect reports at the press of a button.
- ...introduced one of the first Generative AI-driven & fully operational solutions to automatically offer ad-hoc client reporting based on human language queries.
- ...helped create a cutting edge quantitative pricing model for exotic financial products.

Your data sources in a coherent landscape

Data is the raw ore of your business intelligence. Octigen is highly proficient in refining it into a precious resource for you, while keeping it safe, right where your data is.

Generative AI, in the real world

At Octigen we have extensive experience in delivering real business value with clever uses of Large Language Models (LLMs).
